"I have a dream..."

A new "America the Beautiful"
inspired by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

“From every mountainside, let freedom ring.”

On a summer day in 1893, Katharine Lee Bates jotted down words for “America the Beautiful” while looking out from the 14,000–foot summit of Pikes Peak. She had no way of knowing her poem would one day become famous as a song. At the time, she wrote: “Near the top we had to leave the wagon and go the rest of the way on mules. I was very tired. But when I saw the view, I felt great joy. All the wonder of America seemed displayed there, with the sea-like expanse.”

Since then many people have loved the song. It’s even been regarded by some as our “unofficial” national anthem. Along the way, the original lyrics changed with different musical settings. A hymn melody by Samuel A. Ward eventually became the “America the Beautiful” most people know today, with “purple mountain majesties above the fruited plain.” But there still was no actual chorus. These days the later verses are rarely even sung. Language changes with time. So does awareness of inclusion and diversity.

More than a century later, mountains remain a powerful image in Dr. King’s “I Have a Dream” speech. “From every mountain side... let freedom ring!” This past year, for our town’s MLK Day celebration, my friend Mike Bradley and I wondered: What if we had an anthem everyone could sing together? A song for all ages, colors, religions and beliefs. What if we could weave together the vision of “America the Beautiful” with Dr. King’s dream for all America?

And so these new lyrics were born, first sung by our children’s chorus. By the last verse, there was not a dry eye in the crowd. At a time when our country feels increasingly fractured, songs like this help bring us together. They remind us of the dreams we share in common: the promise of an America that is more than any one of us alone.

Available free sheet music and music videos for this song include:

- Simple Lead Sheet (with piano and guitar chords)

INTRO Every mountainside (Let freedom ring)
 Every voice that sings (Let freedom ring)
 For the hope unseen
 The long awaited dream...

Oh beautiful for spacious skies, for amber waves of grain
 For purple mountain majesties above the fruited plain
 Oh beautiful for freedom's hope, although at times unseen
 The promise one day we will see the long awaited dream

*America, America, God grant that we may see
 True brotherhood and sisterhood from sea to shining sea*

Oh beautiful when worth is found in every single face
 When content of our character eclipses rank and race

*America, America, God grant that we may see
 True brotherhood and sisterhood from sea to shining sea*

For the spacious skies (For the waves of grain)
 Every single face (Every rank and race)
 For the hope unseen (Till it's seen)
 The long awaited dream

Oh beautiful when children sing... free from hate and fear
 Now hear their laughter pure and sweet, young voices ringing clear

*America, America, God grant that we may see
 True brotherhood and sisterhood from sea to shining sea
 True brotherhood and sisterhood
 From sea__ to__ shin__ing__ sea_____*

ALT. CHORUS OPTIONS America, America, Oh grant that we may/will be United as one family, from sea to shining sea
